GIN COCKTAILS

Gin has never gone out of style. Here we present the quintessential recipes favoured by the most fashionable ladies and gents across the ages.

Gin Martini

Stirred delicately with a whisper of vermouth, dressed with Sicilian olives or a citrus twist. The best way to drink gin—cold and lots of it.

Gimlet

The Royal Navy created this upper deck gem to boost their vitamin C intake. Shaken with house lime and juniper cordial, served bracingly cold-martini style.

Southside

A favourite of infamous Southside mobsters in Prohibition-era Chicago. The perfect tonic for the tropical heat; gin, lime, mint and sugar served up.

Aviation

A thirst-quenching treat with gin, lemon juice, maraschino liqueur and crème de violette, from classic cocktail compendium The Savoy Cocktail Book (1930).

Pimm's Cup

Originally a health tonic by James Pimm from the 1840s, Pimm's No. 1 is divinely refreshing with gin, garden fruit, mint, cucumber and house soda.

Prescription Daisy

Shaken with your choice of fruit, lime and a touch of sugar. Once prescribed for better health and well-being, discover the delights of this addictive medicinal tippie.

Red Snapper

The precursor to everyone's favourite savoury cocktail created by St Regis Hotel's Fernand Petiot. Gin, woven with fresh housemade tomato juice, citrus and spices.

Negroni

This ageless classic traces back to one Count Camillo Negroni of Florence in 1921. Gin and Campari stirred down with house sweet vermouth, it just gets better and better.

Ramos Gin Fizz

This 19th century New Orleans classic was created by Henry C. Ramos in 1888. A soft, velvety concoction with gin, lemon juice, orange blossom, cream and soda.

All Gin Cocktails are priced at $18.

White Rabbit Punch

Gin, lavender syrup, chamomile tea, pink grapefruit juice and citrus sugar topped with house soda. Best drunk with friends.
